GUESTS OF NATIONAL GUARDS ENJOY THRILLING PROGRAM

Major Cotton of United States Army Present and Compliments Men Highly—Sherwood Ball Defeats Stone in Wrestling Match—Several Good Events

The Glendale Company of the National Guard held a wrestling and boxing carnival in the high school gymnasium last night. The event was the first of a series of entertainments to be given by the local company, under the direction of Capt. Thos. D. Watson.

The first event was a wrestling match between William Strong and Burdette Rockhold, both of them being guards. Rockhold pinned his opponent to the mat in three minutes and twenty seconds. Boyd Dennis and Alfred Bowman gave an exhibition of fast lightweight boxing. Probably the most bloodthirsty event was the so-called boxing match between "Bull Montana" Weetman and "Chisel" Dennison. The match started with a rush, both contestants trying hard to sink a fist into the other's 180 pounds of beef. After four rounds of the windmill style of boxing the scramble was called to an end by the clang of the time keeper's bell. Charlie Brice and Jim Hill of the 150-pound class tussled on the mat in a five-minute match, neither grappler gaining an advantage. Bob Stone met defeat at the hands of Sherwood Ball in a fast wrestling match. Although the tussle lacked science and skill, it nevertheless provided the audience with plenty of thrills.

Other events were the presentation of the certificate of office to the officers of the company by Capt. Watson. Several solos were sung by Joe Rhodes, accompanied by Ralph Von Hoorbeke. A wild exhibition of fake boxing and a towel fight furnished much amusement for the spectators.

A skillful wrestling match between "Brick" Wilde and Walter Dodds wound up the program. Music was furnished by the high school jazz orchestra.

This is a new departure but it put the company in a favorable light and made good its promise to furnish good clean amusement free of charge not only for members of the company but for all the men of the city. It was the first of a series of athletic and social affairs which will be given by the guards at least once a month.

Major Cotton of the United States army, who is the inspector in charge of the national guard in Los Angeles and vicinity for the government, was present at both the drill and the entertainment which ollowed. He gave the men a talk on their progress and complimented them on their work.

On the strength of the entertainment last night three men have already signed up for enrollment and there are indications of more to come in.

SHOWER GIVEN FOR MISS ALTA LOVELL

Miss Alta M. Lovell, 415 North Central avenue, who is soon to become the bride of Harlowe Harrison, was surprised on Thursday evening by a number of her friends at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. A. Goldthwaite, 329 West California street.

Games and music were the diversions of the evening, and a large clothesbasket was presented the bride-elect, in which she found many useful things for the kitchen of her new home.

Pink and white was the color scheme of the decorations of the home, this pretty motif being carried out in the dining-room by means of gay streamers of pink and white hearts extending around the edge of the dining table, which was centered by a beautiful cake upon which stood a tiny bride and groom. Pink ice cream and cake were served the guests, who were Mmes. H. J. Lovell, Cora Dilley, G. Harrison, Stedt G. Flanders, Misses Alta Lovell, Helen Goldthwaite, Anna Van Pelt, Harriet Van Pelt, Merle Bowen, Alta Bowen, Gladys Sharpe, Margaret Sharpe, Margaret McPherson, Marion Grigg, Cymbel Taylor, Katherine Taylor, Miriam Rich, Hazel Myers, Delia Young, Alice Lookabaugh and the hostesses, Mrs. Jesse Goldthwaite, Miss Ruth Sanford and little Miss Barbara Goldthwaite.

FOOD SALE BY PRESBYTERIANS

A successful demonstration of a pressure cooker is being given at the Newton Electric Company on East Broadway. Mrs. Gable who has charge of the work is an artist in her line, and not only showed the large crowd of interested women Thursday afternoon the possibilities of a pressure cooker as a labor conserver, but served an appetizing little lunch that had been preparing while she explained in detail the advantages of the cooker.

S. O. S. SENT OUT BY P. O. DEPARTMENT

The local post office department has sent out an urgent call for help from the public. This call is made as a part of instructions received from Postmaster General Hayes.

It is pointed out that the bulk of mail is deposited in the evening, which throws the heavy work of the day on postal employes at a time when they should have the least to do. In order to handle mail to the best advantage and to best serve all concerned the postal authorities urge that mail be deposited early in the morning and as often during the forenoon as possible. By doing this all concerned will be better served and mail will be handled with greater dispatch.

PLAN TO HOLD A "COUNTREE FAIR"

The Young People's Christian Endeavor Society and the Senior Christian Endeavor of the Christian church have connived together in plans for a "Countree Fair" at the bungalow this evening, which promises to be a hilarious event.

All young people are invited and it is desired that guests come clothed in the garb of "country jakes." A prize will be awarded for the best costume. Popcorn and pink lemonade will be features of the evening.

The grand march will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. A squint at Hiram Corntossel's latest entry in the poultry show is said to be worth ten times the entrance money, which is ten coppers—a silver dime may be accepted in lieu of these, but money of the above-named denomination is preferred.

MRS. JACK THOMAS FRACTURES A RIB

Mrs. Jack Thomas of the White Inn had the misfortune to fall last Monday and fracture a rib. A doctor was called who strapped up the injured bone the way it should go, but Mrs. Thomas has to take life easy and avoid any strenuous exertion. She is suffering considerable inconvenience. Mrs. George Shafer, friend from South Bend, Indiana, who has been the guest of Mrs. Thomas and other California acquaintances, is leaving for the east next Sunday morning.

"FATHERS' NIGHT" GIVEN BY P.-T. A.

A unique meeting was held by the Central Avenue P.-T. A. Thursday evening at the school which was an entertainment of husbands and fathers, the occasion being "Fathers' Night" on the calendar of the association. The program provided numbers as follows:

Recitation, "School Days," by Joan Harris; dance, Gavotte Mignonne, Marian Stadler; piano solo, "Ariel," by Dorothy Robinson; recitation, "Moo Cow," by Gladys Michel; rustic dance, Ruth Campbell, with accompaniment by Mrs. Alfred Potts; Chinese dance, Marian Stadler; piano recital, Mrs. Alma M. Geiger, "Caprice (I. W. Newland) and Grand Finale Sextette from Lucia, arranged for left hand (Letcheteszsky); spring dance, Ruth Campbell; dance, "The Artist," Marian Stadler.

The final number of the program was the spectacular climax of the evening—a grand march of members of the association and the "fathers" dressed in the costumes of boys and girls. A prize was offered for the best impersonation which was won by Mrs. Ettare Kent dressed as "Red Ridinghood."

Refreshments were then served. It was a much enjoyed meeting the attendance being somewhere between 150 and 200.

SOME CARS SOLD

Jesse (Ford) Smith looks not so downcast these days and in explanation of the genial smiles that make sunshine in the Ford agency, says its record thus far for April is 43 new machines sold and 20 used machines.

ENTERTAINS AT CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Nina Richardson was hostess on Wednesday afternoon to 45 members of the Kensington Club of the Woman's Relief Corps, and a number of their guests, at her home, 1017 Virginia place. The president of the club, Mrs. Julina Hayes, had charge of the meeting.

The work of the afternoon was the making of quilts for the Children's hospital, Los Angeles. Plans were also made to make quilts and perhaps necessary clothing for the children who will be cared for in the Monte Vista home for children of the county.

A quilt top was given the club by the president, Mrs. Julina Hayes. Mrs. Will Peterson also gave blocks for a quilt, and a very beautiful and interesting blue and white quilt top was presented the club by Mrs. Anna Patterson. It was made by Mrs. Patterson's aunt more than 40 years ago and the quality of its materials contrasted very strikingly, with that of similar fabrics of today. It was so much admired and coveted by all the ladies that they voted to finish it up and devise a plan to realize a goodly sum of money on it.

A substantial luncheon of sandwiches, coffee and cake was served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon.

An extra all-day session was planned for April 26, when Mrs. Milligan, 114 East Park avenue, will be hostess. Several sewing machines will be provided as the session will be devoted to sewing for needy children.

ENTERTAIN AT DINNER FOR DENVER GUESTS

Mrs. J. E. Osborne and her mother, Mrs. S. J. Farrow are entertaining at dinner this evening at their home, 210 West Doran street, in honor of Mrs. Ida Eckel and Mrs. Clara Robinson of Denver, Col.

Gold of Ophir roses will decorate the dinner table, where covers will be laid for the honor guests, Mrs. Eckel and Mrs. Robinson, Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Farrow, Misses Alliece Farrow, Virginia Farrow, Messrs. Roy Ruby of Chicago and C. G. Farrow, jr., and the hostesses.

Tomorrow the same group will motor to Fullerton for the day, where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gunnette, Miss Eckel's brother-in-law and sister.

NO CAMPAIGNING BY CITY EMPLOYES

The following opinion of City Attorney Shaw relative to certain provisions of the city charter given in response to an inquiry made by City Manager Watson, will be of interest to many readers:

April 13, 1921.

Mr. T. W. Watson, city manager, Glendale, Calif.:

Dear Sir—I have your letter inquiring whether sections 25 to 28 of Article 22 of the new charter of the city of Glendale will be in effect and applicable to the coming campaign for election of the new city officers, under the charter.

Section 28 above mentioned is as follows:

"For the purpose of electing all elective officers, and all purposes connected therewith, this charter shall take effect from the time of its approval by the legislature. For all other purposes it shall take effect on July 5, 1921."

The approval of the legislature to this charter will no doubt be given in a few days and it thereupon becomes effective for all purposes connected with the election which is to be held June 28th. This means that all provisions of the charter relating to or connected with said election are to take immediate effect. Section 25 is one of these sections and provides as follows:

"Neither the city manager nor any person in the employ of the city shall take any active part in securing, or shall contribute money toward the nomination or election of any candidate for a municipal office."

Section 27 makes the violation of any provision of the charter a misdemeanor and is, of course, applicable to a violation of section 25, and hence would also be effective at once as far as section 25 is concerned.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that it is a violation of the charter for any person in the employ of the city to take any active part in securing, or to contribute money, toward the nomination or election of any candidate at the election above mentioned. This provision of the charter, no doubt, includes all the appointive officers and employes of the city, but does not extend to the elective officers.

Yours very truly,
HARTLEY SHAW,
City Attorney.

ANNUAL STATE P. E. O. CONVENTION IS NOW IN SESSION AT BURBANK

Artistic and Varied Program Delights Large Audience of Ladies and Gentlemen—Many Glendale Artists Are Present—Girls Give Unusual Dances

Thursday evening in the attractive auditorium of the Burbank grammar school, delegates to the Eighteenth Anual State P. E. O. convention were treated to a high class entertainment that reflected great credit on the committee responsible for arranging the program. There was no attempt at instruction, but the entertainment was of a high order and sufficiently varied to please every taste and give positive assurance against boredom. A good orchestra filled the intervals between the announced numbers.

Burbank's fine choral club directed by Charles L. Munro with Mrs. J. H. Phillips as accompanist, opened the program with "A Song of Liberty," by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, and "By Babylon's Waves" (Gounod), followed by the encore "Little Pink Rose." Burbank is to be congratulated on its chorus and its leader.

Two charming dance numbers followed and in these the Glendalians in the audience, and they were many, were especially interested. The first by Cecilia Mae Fischer, who is a pupil of the Pearl Keller school of this city, revealed her to the audience in tableau against the background of a green vase on which she was supposed to be the decoration Released from her impisonment she executes a lovely dance expressing happiness and joy in freedom, returning at last to her pose as the vase decoration. She was recalled by the gratified audience, but gave no encore number.

Entirely different was the dance by little Margot Buxton, grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Turck of South Glendale avenue, this city, who was the marvellous embodiment of the thing she represented, the "Doll Court Jester." So perfect was her make-up and her interpretation it seemed impossible to realize she was not a mechanical toy, a creature of wood, paint and springs. The dance began with leaps suggesting spiral springs as motive force and when it climaxed in a series of cart-wheel handsprings all around the stage, the audience was on its feet applauding and cheering. Margot was recalled of course and as her encore gave an extra cartwheel or two and blew kisses to the audience. She is but nine years of age and is a wonder in the ease and spontaniety of her dancing. Theatrical managers are said to have their eyes upon her already.

Lilian Burkhart Goldsmith read in her characteristic way the unusual things in prose and verse which she alone has seemed able to discover

POSTERS MADE BY G. U. H. S. STUDENTS

A collection of 13 beautiful and highly original posters made to serve as advertisements of the National Congress of Mothers, to be held in Washington in May, adorned the library of Intermediate school on the occasion of the meeting of the executive board of the local P.-T. A. federation Thursday afternoon. In satisfaction of the curiosity and interest they excited, the explanation was given that they had been made by pupils of the art department of Glendale Union high in response to a request for contributions along that line. The legends featuring the winning posters were: "Hot lunches for under-nourished children," and "Just enough work and play makes you healthy, wealthy and gay." The first was made by Clair Robinson, the second by Ralph Von Hoorebeke. Both were excellent and well balanced compositions besides being clever. Others who contributed posters were: Villa Bottsford, Agnes Caldwell, Eunice Caldwell, Orrell Hester, Louise Hollenbeck, Bernice Huskins, Eleanor Sawyer, Ruth Waterman, Grace Yarbrough, and Chester Vosbrink.

The judges who passed on the merits of the thirteen and selected the two which will be sent to Washington were the artist, John Cotton of Casa Verdugo, and Miss Chambers, art teacher of Intermediate.

Commenting on them, Mr. Cotton said he considered the Robinson poster very excellent in design but a little low in color. The Van Hoorebeke was well balanced and carried well. Some of them he considered needed more brilliance of color for a poster is supposed to arrest attention and fairly shout color.

The art club of Glendale high recently took in the private view of the spring exhibition of artists and sculptors on Southern California at Exposition Park. The group included ten students and Misses Irene Muller and Mary B. Abbott, their instructors. There will be no meeting of the club until after the art exhibit of the department, June 1 to 3.

MABEL NORMAND AT PALACE GRAND

"What Happened to Rosa" is advertised as "a circus of fun." When we add that it features Mabel Normand no one will doubt that the ad even understates the situation. Mabel Normand's comedies are always full of such riotous wholesome fun that the bare announcement of her name on the bill is enough to pack the house. "What Happened to Rose" is half of the double comedy bill at the Palace Grand tonight. The other half is Larry Semon in his latest comedy feature, "The Hick." This bill is to be shown today only.

BAD CHECK PASSED ON S. A. RHOADES

S. A. Rhoades of 1323 East Wilson reports having been victimized by a fictitious check maker in the person of R. A. Anderson of Los Angeles, who gave a check on the Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank in payment for rabbits. The check has been returned marked "no funds." The man is described as traveling in a seven-passenger car, to be about 35 years of age and weighing about 155 pounds, large blue eyes and dressed in dark clothes. Citizens are warned to be on the lookout for the plausible stranger.

LOCAL CARPENTERS TO HELP CHILDREN

All members of Carpenters' Local No. 563, are requested to meet at Odd Fellows' hall on Sunday morning at 9 o'clock and to bring their "movie kits" with them.

They will go to Monte Vista where they will donate their services to some work on the home being established there for undernourished children of the county. They will build fire escapes, make repairs on the kitchen, put in shelving and underpinning.

Ladies of the council of community service will serve lunch to the workmen. Some of the carpenters' families are planning to take their lunches and accompany the workmen, thus making a gala day of the event.

Anyone willing to convey some of the workmen to Monte Vista, Sunday morning, is asked to communicate with Mr. Willets at the cigar store beneath the hall. His telephone is Glendale 75.

EXHIBIT OF PICTURES BY A LOCAL ARTIST

John Cotton, the artist of San Rafael street, has just completed a beautiful color etching of a mountain in the desert in Northern California. A collection of his water colors has been made a traveling exhibit, by special request, and is being sent from library to library. It will be in Glendale at the city library in May or June.

NEW COFFEE STORE TO OPEN

Saturday will see the opening of the coffee store at 212 South Brand, under new management. J. O. Chapman and two sons, J. J. and H. L. Chapman, will be the proprietors, and if the vim and pep shown in getting the store in running order continues the new business bids fair to be one of the many successes in Glendale.

LATE BULLETINS

BERLIN, April 15.—Mme. Karl Muck, wife of the former director of the Boston Symphony orchestra is dead at her home here.

RANDOLPH, Mass., April 15.—Several hundred houses were slightly damaged, scores of persons were thrown from their beds and slightly injured and hundreds were panic stricken early today by explosions that wrecked the plant here of the United States Fire Works Company. No one was fatally hurt.

LONDON, April 15.—Four thousand buildings, including the British consulate, were destroyed by fire at the Japanese seaport of Hakodai, according to a Reuter dispatch today. The British bank, the headquarters of the Christian missions and some government buildings also were leveled by the flames.

LONDON, April 15.—The triple alliance strike is off and the alliance is virtually smashed.

At the very hour when Premier Lloyd George was announcing in parliament that the miners were adamant and when the government prepared to meet the greatest general strike in the history of the kingdom, called for 10 o'clock tonight, the triple alliance, after a stormy session, cancelled it.

NOTED SCIENTIST TO HEAD TECHNOLOGY

By W. J. HUSKE
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 15.—Did you know that there is a device with which the heat radiated by a candle can be measured 16 miles away? Neither did we until Dr. Ernest Fox Nichols was elected president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the largest scientific university in the country. He will take his office July 1.

At present Dr. Nichols, who is a former president of Dartmouth College, is director of pure science at Neal Park, where one of the largest laboratories in the world is maintained by the Illuminating Company, which furnishes light and power to Cleveland homes and industries.

He designed this apparatus to measure the heat radiated by the stars. It consists of two delicate vanes hung in a glass bulb on a fine quartz fiber. One side of each vane is painted black. Due to the fact that the blackened sides absorb more heat than the shiny sides, the slightest heat tends to make the vanes revolve and to twist the fiber on which they are hung.

By measuring the amount the fiber is twisted the amount of heat can be calculated.

Astronomers tell us some stars are so far away that it takes light more than one hundred years to reach us.

"So the heat I was measuring had left the stars long before I was born," said Dr. Nichols.

Among other scientific discoveries credited to Dr. Nichols is that a beam of light exerts a pressure just as does any article the weight of which can be measured by physical means.

Scientists for 300 years have been working to demonstrate this fact.

"What is the value of it" the correspondent asked.

Dr. Nichols answered:

"A scientist discovered that an electric wire when heated throws off electrons. People said: 'Very interesting, no doubt, but how does the matter concern us?'

"For Instance:

"When you are talking by long distance telephone to San Francisco you are employing a practical application of that discovery. Without it the wireless telephone would be impossible.

"It is all very well to say that what we want is applied science, but you can't apply a thing until after it is discovered.

"At the Massachusetts Institute of Technology I hope to keep a proper balance between pure and applied science.

"Pure science unearths a fact. Applied science puts it to use.

"Perhaps a dozen people today understand the Einstein theory. It's well within the realm of possibility, however, that some day all of us will be using devices growing out of it."

Dr. Nichols is 51 years of age. He has received degrees from Kansas Agricultural College, Cornell, the University of Berlin and Cambridge University. He was president of Dartmouth College, at Hanover, New Hampshire, from 1909 to 1916. He has been a professor at Colgate, Dartmouth, Columbia and Yale.

FIND FIFTY PER CENT OF FRENCH BOYS UNFIT

(By International News Service)

PARIS, April 15.—Nearly 50 per cent of the French youths called up for service in the class of 1921—that is, those born in 1900—have been found to be medically unfit and have been rejected entirely or left over until next year. Since 1915 this proportion has been constant. No cause is officially assigned for this state of things, but it is pointed out that a large part of the present recruits are the sons of parents born immediately after the war of 1870-71.

ALL-STAR SERVICES LEAGUE FOR KIDDIES

Organization for Promotion and Encouragement of Sports for Kiddies

By JACK VEIOCK
International News Sporting Editor

NEW YORK, April 15.—The promotion and encouragement of healthful sports among the kiddies of the country is the object of a new organization which has been formed at Flint, Mich.

The organization is known as the All Stars Service League and its sponsors are receiving encouragement from many big men of nation-wide prominence.

The league will endeavor to enlist the services of leading stars of the diamond, the ring, the cinder path and all other branches of sport in big athletic exhibitions for the purpose of raising funds which, it is explained, will be used for the purchase of athletic equipment for the youngsters of the nation. According to its sponsors the league will be conducted without profit to the men behind it and will endeavor to penetrate every state in the union, forming localized branches which will be in charge of the league's activities in various sections of the country.

Harding May Help

Those interested in the movement, among whom are George H. Maines, president of the Michigan-Ontario Baseball league, and prominent business and professional men of Flint and Detroit, plan to create an advisory board composed of such national figures as President Warren G. Harding, Herbert C. Hoover, Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton University; Hon. Miles Poindexter, Hon. Ole Hanson, W. H. (Big Bill) Edwards, Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas; Governor Harry Davis, of Ohio; Governor D. W. Davis, of Idaho; A. Mitchell Palmer and dozens of others too numerous to mention.

A committee on arrangements headed by Governor A. J. Groesbeck of Michigan, and comprising men of business and professional prominence in addition to such figures as George (Babe) Ruth, Walter Eckersall, Walter Steffen, James J. Corbett, Roger Bresnahan, Matt J. Hinkel, Judge W. M. (Willie) Heston and Charles Bennett, famous old-time Detroit ball player, has already been named.

Move Is Gigantic

The need for such an organization has often been voiced, though the undertaking is one of mammoth proportions. The recent movement aimed at the reduction of taxes on sporting goods that have placed such goods beyond the reach of a great majority of the "kids" of the country is proof that the question has been given serious thought in many parts of the country, for the movement just alluded to had its origin in the East.

The founders of the All Stars Service League, while they realize the proportions of their undertaking, are encouraged because of the many prominent men who have offered suggestions and even their services in helping the movement along. Warren G. Harding, the nation's executive, is quoted by sponsors of the league who offer the following excerpt from a letter:

". . . . I am writing to give very cordial expression of approval to the project which you are seeking to promote. Young America today needs nothing more than helpful physical training. The one great disappointment I suffered during the period of wartime anxiety was to note the shockingly large percentage of American youths in some states who were ineligible to military service because of physical unfitness.

"The program which you have in mind ought to contribute very largely to a higher quality of physical manhood in the United States, and with this improvement will come a higher and better mental state as well.

"I am very glad to encourage the movement in any way that I am able to do so. Very sincerely yours
"WARREN G. HARDING."

Purposes of the League

In outlining the foundation and purposes of the league its sponsors submit the following:

"The movement, national in scope, was started by a group of Michigan business and professional men, who felt it the duty of the present generation of grown-ups to look after the recreational welfare of present and future generations of American youngsters. They formed the league about two years ago, and in January, this year, it was incorporated under the laws of Michigan, not to be run for profit in any way, shape or form. Every cent taken in, above actual running expenses, will be turned into a fund to purchase athletic equipment of all sorts for use of the kiddies of the nation.

"Money to carry on the league's activities is to be raised in several ways, chiefly among which are motion picture films, the league magazine, advertising and membership drives, athletic tournaments, etc.

"The motion pictures will be produced by some of the greatest artists in the realm of the film drama, who have volunteered their services to help the kiddies of America. These stars have been so thoroughly impressed by the opportunity to do good in this manner that they have gladly agreed to give their time toward the making of pictures that will be at once salable and inspiring. Co-operating with them will be performances by stars of the diamond, gridiron, ring and track, who not only will appear in the pictures but will from time to time put on exhibition contests to raise money for the league."

REVIVAL OF THE KUKLUX KLAN

By Frank Parker Stockbridge

The Kuklux Klan crossed Mason and Dixon's line in the winter of 1920-21. Revived in the south some five years ago, this secret, oath-bound organization that had its origin in the troublous times of the reconstruction period following the Civil War in America, began during the winter just past to extend its activities into the north and west, with the avowed intention of uniting native-born white Christians for concerted action in the preservation of American institutions and the supremacy of the white race.

To the average American the mention of the name suggests terrorism. The mental picture of the Kuklux, to those to whom the words conjure up any mental picture at all, is of a band of white-robed, hooded riders, appearing mysteriously out of the darkness and proceeding, silently, and with complete discipline, to execute some extra-legal mission of warning or of private vengeance. That, at least, is the reaction of the average northern white man, whose knowledge of the Kuklux Klan is derived entirely from reading or the "movies." To him it is something like the Vigilantes of early California days or the "Night Riders" of the Kentucky tobacco war of the early twentieth century; the words carry to his ears an unmistakeable flavor of lynch law, and if he be old enough to have read the writings of Albion W. Tourgee and other northern writers who wrote of the south in the reconstruction period, he cannot escape the implication of lawless oppression of the negro by the white.

As Viewed in the South

To the southern white man, however, the name of this organization brings up a different picture.

"The Kuklux saved the south" is the expression in which he sums up in a phrase a point of view which has grown into a fixed tradition in the states of the former Confederacy. To the average southern white man of today the name of the Kuklux Klan, after the lapse of half a century, typifies all that was best and finest in the chivalry of the old south. It conveys to him the impression of valiant men resisting tyranny, of the salvation of the white race from threatened negro domination (with all that implied socially as well as politically), and of the rescue of the white womanhood of the south from a frightful and ever-present peril.

"The object (of the Kuklux Klan) was to protect the whites during the disorders that followed the civil war, and to oppose the policy of the north toward the south," says Dr. Fleming in an article in the Encyclopaedie Britannica.

Formed in 1865 at Pulaski, Tennessee, as a social club of young white men, with an absurd ritual and a strange uniform, it was soon discovered by the members that the fear of it had great influence over the lawless but superstitious blacks.

Among the conditions and clauses that enabled the Kuklux Klan to develop in two or three years into the most powerful instrument of regulation in the whole south, Dr. Fleming enumerates these:

"The absence of stable government in the south for several years after the Civil War; the corrupt and tyrannical rule of the alien, renegade and whites; the spread of ideas of social and political equity among the negroes; fear of negro insurrections; the arming of the negro militia and disarmament of the whites; outrages upon white women by black men; the influence of northern adventurers in the Freedman's Bureau and the Union League in alienating the races; the humiliation of Confederate soldiers after they had been paroled—in general, the insecurity felt by southern whites during the decade after the collapse of the confederacy."

In its perfect organization the old Kuklux Klan had at its head, with the title of General Wizard, General Nathan Bedford Forrest, the former Confederate cavalry leader whom General William Tecumseh Sherman characterized as "the most remarkable man the Civil War produced on either side." The General Wizard ruled the "Invisible Empire," which consisted of the entire south. Over each state or "Realm," presided a "Grand Dragon." Counties were "Provinces each with its "Grand Giant"; a group of counties was a "Dominion," ruled by a "Grand Titan," and local units were "dens," over which the "Grand Cyclops" held sway. Staff officers bore such titles as Genii, Hydras, Furies, Goblins, Night Hawks, Magi, Monks and Turks, while individual members were Ghouls.

"To protect and succor the weak and unfortunate, especially the widows and orphan of Confederate soldiers; to protect members of the white race in life, honor and property, from the encroachments of the blacks; to oppose the Radical Republican party and the Union League; to defend constitutional liberty, to emancipate the whites, maintain peace and order, the laws of God, the principles of 1776 and the political and social supremacy of the white race—in short, to oppose African influence in government and society and to prevent any intermingling of the races."

Some of the Methods

"To control the negro," says Professor Fleming, "the Klan played upon his superstitious fears by having night patrols, parades and drills of silent horsemen covered with white sheets, carrying skulls with coals of fire for eyes, sacks of bones to rattle and wearing hideous masks * * * Mysterious signs and warnings were sent to disorderly negro politicians. The whites who were responsible for the conduct of the blacks were warned or driven away by social or business ostracism or by violence. Nearly all the southern whites * * * took part in the Kuklux movement. As the work of the societies succeeded they gradually passed out of existence. In some communities they fell into the control of violent men and became simply bands of outlaws * * * and the anarchial aspects of the movement excited the north to vigorous condemnation."

That the occasion which gave rise to the original Kuklux movement was a real crisis, affecting the welfare and happiness of a whole people, the impartial historian of today may well concede; that in meeting the crisis by means that were used in the south was fighting for the preservation of what it deemed right, even holy, with the only weapon at its command, is hardly to be controverted.

CITY MANAGER'S RECOMMENDATIONS

Map of Grand View District With Tentative Street Plan Submitted

At the Thursday evening meeting of the Board of Trustees City Manager Watson submitted a map of the Grand View district setting forth a tentative street plan for that section. He called attention to the fact that there is considerable activity in the subdivision of acreage. Said he: "A number of maps will be presented shortly dedicating new streets and in order that such new streets as are accepted may conform to a general street plan for the whole district the map above referred to is submitted for your consideration with the recomendation that a public hearing before your Board be held two weeks from this date, thte 28th instant, that we be authorized in the meantime to present this map and street plan to the Grand View Improvement association and the people of that district be invited to submit their recommendations in regard to the same to your Board at such hearing.

"The heavy black lines represent the present streets in the district. These streets are mostly 60 feet wide. The dotted black lines represent future streets. These are mostly all planned as 50-foot streets. All of these run at right angles to San Fernando road excepting the proposed extention of Kenneth road. Such a street plan would conform to the present property lines very well and permit of the subdivision of each block within the district in practically the same way, leaving no short or blind streets as would be the case if some of the blocks were subdivided as proposed and others with the additional streets laid out parallel with San Fernando road. This plan of subdivision would provide for large residence lots not less than 150 feet deep in most instances.

"It is planed that the roadways on the 60-foot streets shall be 36 feet in width. On the 50-foot streets they are planned to be 28 feet in width. It is also planned to round the outside corner of the corner lots at each street intersection whenever necessary to provide that there shall be a clear space inside the curb at each street intersection with a radius of not less than 28 feet, providing a turning space at each of these intersections at least as wide as Broadway in the business section, which is 56 feet."

GIVES TWO COURSES IN SUMMER SESSION

The Department of Journalism of the California State University offers two courses in the summer session to be held in Los Angeles June 20 to July 30, according to information received by the Daily Press today from Dean Baldwin M. Woods. One of these courses will be on the collecting and writing of news, the other on newspaper editing. Frank Thayer, associate professor of journalism in the state college of Washington, will be the instructor.

Practice in gathering news, and exercises in judging news values and in writing news stories will be given in the first course, together with a study of methods of headline and various types of newspaper narratives. Lectures will also be a feature, and "The Summer Seccion Californian" will afford an opportunity for practice work.

Copy reading, headline writing, "re-writes," newspaper make-up, proof reading, reading of exchanges, study of law of libel and discussion of policies will be important features of the course in newspaper editing, and this course, also, will include practice work on "The Summer Session Californian."

Professor Thayer, the instructor in these courses, is an Oberlin College graduate and received a Master of Arts degree in journalism from the University of Wisconsin—one of the first advanced degrees granted for research work in journalism. His practical newspaper experience was gained as a staff member of the Springfield, Massachusetts, Republican and the Detroit News. He was formerly on the journalism staff of the University of Kansas, and was at one time director of the journalism course of the State University of Iowa. In 1919 he organized the courses in journalism and industrial journalism in thte State College of Washington.

Detailed information of these courses may be secured from the office of the Summer Session, 831 Pacific-Finance building, Los Angeles.

OUTSIDE RATES FOR LIGHT AND WATER

In response to thte suggestion of the Board of Trustees that he prepare a tentative schedule of rates for light and water service in territory outside the limits of Glendale, now served by the light and water department of the city and which the city is under obligation to continue serving, City Manager Watson submitted the following:

Water

Minimum, $1.50, including 800 cu. ft. or less.

All over 800 cu. ft., 10c per 100 cu. ft.

Minimum for 1-inch meter, $2.00, including 800 cu. ft. or less.

Minimum for 1½-inch meter, $2.50, including 800 cu. ft. or less.

Minimum for 2-inch meter, $3.00, including 800 cu. ft. or less.

Minimum for 3-inch meter, $3.50, including 800 cu. ft. or less.

These rates compare favorably with charges for water in adjacent territory.

Electricity

In submitting a rate for your consideration to be charged for electricity in this territory we can think of no better plan than to adopt the rates for this district that the Southern California Edison company is authorized to charge in such territory outside of municipalities. These rates are as follows:

First 50 K. W. H. per meter per month, 9c per K. W. H.

Next 200 K. W. H. per meter per month, 8c per K. W. H.

Next 750 K. W. H. per meter per month, 7c per K. W. H.

Next 1000 K. W. H. per meter per month, 6c per K. W. H.

Next 3000 K. W. H. per meter per month, 5c per K. W. H.

All over 5000 K. W. H. per meter per month, 4½c per K. W. H.

Minimum, $1.25 per meter per month, including 14 K. W. H.

Water Service Connections

The following charges are based on the actual cost of installing the service, including the meter and all other materials used:

For each Service Connection Including a—

PROGRESS IN PACIFICATION

War is burning itself out. Nations are getting tired of standing on pride and prerogatives. Men want peace almost at any price—the chance to do a day's work, to eat a meal in security and go home at night.

No statesman can claim credit for this natural subsidence of the flames of war nearly seven years after they first broke out. Nevertheless, it will be noted that all recent settlements which were consequent upon eruptions of the late war have been in accordance with the principles of self-determination as proposed, emphasized and insisted upon by ex-President Wilson. The combustible area of Poland, Russia and Ukraine has been disposed not by conquest but by negotiation and compact. Upper Silesia has just exercised its prerogative of self-determination. Fiume, despite the jingo theatricals of d'Annunzio, finally became an independent city without drawing Italy again into war.

All these settlements, two of which have occurred within the past few days, have contributed to the general pacification of Europe. The only serious break remaining is the reparations dispute between Germany and the allies. Even this has been reduced by the outcome of the Silesian plebiscite, as a vote favorable to Germany was one of the conditions upon which her Government was willing to submit to the allied terms. The hope that an agreement here is possible is further encouraged by the statement of Dr. Simons before a Reichstag committee recently that "we are pretty well agreed that sooner or later we shall again enter into negotitaions with the Entente."

Great Britain has signed a trade agreement with Russia which looks like a long step toward pacification between the hitherto irreconcilable elements of Eastern and Western Europe. Japanese, German and Italian representatives have told Lenine that their Governments would follow England's example.

The past week has been a fruitful one for the return of peace to Europe and the world.

WHAT IS A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE?

BY HUGH A. CARROLL
Member of Walters (Okla.) Chamber of Commerce

A chamber of commerce, composed of fallible human beings, must necessarily reflect the spirit, the enterprise, the energy and the aspirations of the component membership. It is, therefore, human and subject to failings and successes, and whether it be failings or successes that predominate depends on the combined determined will of such membership.

A chamber of commerce is not a place to produce hot air, visionary schemes or to go off on the impractical chasings of the rainbow's end.

It is not a political organization nor a place to gratify selfish desires nor to vent personal spleen.

It is, on the other hand, a co-operative society, wherein each individual benefits. You cannot take out of the basket until you have put something in. "e profits most who serves best."

It is the organization wherein business competitors drop their scramble for business for the moment and merge their resources and power for the upbuilding of the community.

It is the saviour of business in times of depression.

It fosters civci pride; it arouses the latent talents of its citizens, awakening within them a desire to make their town, your town and my town a better place to do business in, to live in and really to enjoy life in, untrammeled on the one hand by puritanic restrictions or on the other hand unsullied, at home or abroad, by unbridled license.

Summing up, a chamber of commerce is the concentrated brains, efforts, ambitions and progressive desires of the business, professional, social, religious and educational forces of the community.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 15.—The Harvard "Murphys" are to collect. The committee in charge of the scholarships founded by the late W. S. Murphy, of Boston, have just awarded several of them to students who bear the name of the donor, in accordance with the decree of his will.

BOYS SHOULD NOT ASPIRE TO HEIGHTS

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 15.—The top of a smokestack 265 feet above terra firma is no place for nervous boys, George Condon, Jimmie Bouse and John Korinek will tell the world.

George and Jimmie and John ascended to the top of the 265-foot smokestack that adorns the Chicago surface lines powerhouse. It was easy going up, all they had to do was put one foot ahead of the other on the rungs of an iron ladder that was imbedded in the bricks of the chimney.

At the top of the stack, looking down, however, it was different. The boys became terror-stricken and dizzy. Two policemen blindfolded the lads and carried them down from their eerie perch.

OVERCOME

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTEBOOK

BY LEE PAPE

THE INDIANS

The Indians was a erly race
With black hair and high cheeked bones,
They had copper colored complexions
But no electric lites or fones.

They were good with bows and arrows
And also fond of fishing,
And if they wished they had hot running watter
They had to take it out in wishing.

But still they had their plezzures,
Inclooding hunting for bears,
And when they sat down they sat on the ground
Out of respect for the absents of chairs.

They called their children papooses
And lived in home made tents,
With a pole stuck up in the middle
And no back yard and no fence.

Wen their feet got tired they used a canoe
Till a enemy Indian sank it,
And a lady Indian was always a squaw
And went erround rapped in a blankit.

A buntch of tents was a village
And a buntch of Indians a tribe,
And a buntch of grunts was their langwidge,
Making them a sintch to discribe.

ROOSEVELT PAID HIGH TRIBUTE TO STEFANSSON

Theodore Roosevelt said to Stefansson, the famous Arctic explorer who is to lecture at Chautauqua this year: "Stafansson, there are few men in the world whom I envy, but you are one of them."

Harpers' Magazine said recently: "All the world's heroism has not been concentrated on the battlefields during the past years. While the war has engrossed the world's attention, this explorer has dared and won important bloodless battles against snow and ice and darkness. For five years Vilhjalmur Stefansson was extending the boundaries of the scientific world, his progress only guessed at by those who waited eagerly for news of him. For over a year he was given up for lost until the good news traveled southward that he was still alive.

"His success marks a new era in Arctic explorations. Like great military commanders, Stefansson has solved the problem of supplies. Heretofore explorers have been limited in their trips by the amount of food they could carry—depending upon eating their dogs on their return. Stefansson, traveling with a minimum of provisions, has lived off the land for months and returned with his entire crew of dogs in good health.

"He has explored and sounded 100,000 square miles of the Polar seas and has discovered new lands which will alter the map. In recognition of this service to the world, Stefansson has already been awarded gold medals by all the American Geographical Societies."

ROMANCE NOT DEAD IN AMERICA

(By International News Service)
By MILDRED MORRIS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 15.—In view of amazing social scandals now attracting public attention, Dr. Edward Hiram Reede, distinguished neurologist and writer on psychological subjects, was asked today whether the moral fabric of American society was breaking down. Speaking scientifically, Dr. Reede declared the ancient institution of marriage "is as safe as it ever was." As for the pessimistic view that romance is dying out in the United States, Dr. Deede said:

"It is typical of the male of the species to demand constancy of his mate, even while he strays. It is masculine egotism.

"Man is proprietary. After he marries he looks upon his wife as property to remain through his life."

American Exhaust is Humor

The typical American husband represses his emotions, as does the typical American wife, Dr. Reede says. The typical American husband is usually in revolt against his wife as the censor of his morals, he added, but re disguises this revolt in humor. He makes a "wheeze" or two and relieves his feelings.

"There are no other people in the world who are so romantic as we are," said the scientist. "Longfellow's idealization of romance as expressed in "The Courtship of Miles Standish" is our guide. The American tradition is that a youth must court only one maid, his ideal of womanhood, just as Priscilla was John Alden's ideal; give his love to her only and remain constant to her to the end of his days.

Ostracism Promotes Secretiveness

"In Europe it is accepted that a young man should have his 'affairs' before he settles down. Young fellows in this country sow their wild oats, but they do it in secret. If their dissapation becomes known they are placed outside the palé of respectability by society. After their romantic courtship the typical American couple enter matrimony with the idea that the romance will continue. There are storms until they awaken to the fact that marriage is a matter of give and take. You may remember hearing your grandmother talk of her long courtship. We point with pride to the pioneer family. The pioneer couple didn't lack romance; it had the good sense to recognize matrimony as a give and take affair.

"The average American woman is content if her man brings home the booty he acquires in the world of business and remains constant.

"Our Puritanical spirit may bring criticism and jest, our Longfellow ideal of romance may be called sentimental slush, but they are the things that have given us our civilization. It is the basement upon which we have built our society."

Dreamers Should Desist

Dr. Reede admitted that harsh things may be said about marriage. He conceded that it becomes a prosaic harness to people of imagination, but he predicted that young people will continue for generations to marry in the same old way, and there'll be the same old wheezes in the American comics about "boss wife" and "friend mother-in-law."

"About the worst thing that may be said about marriage is that it enslaves the woman," said Dr. Reede.

"Even though women gain more freedom, in my opinion they will always have to suppress their individuality in marriage. It seems necessary for the success of marriage and the welfare of the family. A man's faith in the woman he marries is his only surety that he is the father of the family."

ADVANTAGE OF BEING POOR

You can wear out your old duds.

You're not bothered with formal callers.

You don't get a raft of begging letters.

You are not spoiled by flattery.

You don't have to live beyond your means.

You aren't kept awake by the help problem.

You never worry lest your chauffeur is joy-riding in your new car.

Finally, if you have a true friend you are apt to find it out.—Boston Transcript.

PLACE FOR ANOTHER Y

When Alice Smith had attained the age of 16 she undertook to alter the orthography of her given name to what, it seemed to her, was a more poetic form. Accordingly, she began to sign herself Alyce. Thus designated she entered a new school and, of course, the first question put to her was with reference to her name.

"Alyce Smith," she said, "A-l-y-c-e."

"Thanks," said the teacher. "And how are you spelling 'Smith' now?"—St. Louis Times.

MARRIED LIFE A LA MODE

Husband (angrily)—What! no supper ready? This is the limit! I'm going to a restaurant.

Wife—Wait just five minutes.

Husband—Will it be ready then?

Wife—No, but then I'll go with you

COULDN'T BE PLEASED

"Kind of hard to please women," Blinks sighed.

"What now?" Jinks asked sympathetically.

"My wife harped so on how much more attention men paid to women before marriage that I had a big bunch of roses sent out to the house and took her a box of fine candy."

"And wasn't she pleased?"

"Oh, I dunno. She's been talking ever since about how much more sensible it would have been if I'd sent out a ham and brought home a new door-mat."—Los Angeles Times.

REVIVAL OF THE KUKLUX KLAN

siderable body of people exists today to give vitality to the revival of the Kuklux Klan after the lapse of 50 years? Unless some satisfying answer can be made to that question, the subject is hardly one to be treated seriously; unless there exists (or it is believed by a great number of persons that it does exist) a real need for the banding together of native-born white Christians in a militant organization for mutual protection, any organization based on such a premise must inevitably fall to pieces of its own weight. And while the original Kuklux Klan was purely sectional in its activities, whereas the revived Kuklux Klan is extending its field to the entire United States, the ground for its existence and continued growth must be sought in national rather than in local conditions.

Part of the answer to the question just propounded is not difficult to deduce from such of the literature of the Kuklux as is permitted to be distributed to those not affiliated with the organization; part of it is contained in statements by high officials of the organization or published with their sanction.

To every inquirer writing to the Klan's headquarters in Atlanta for information is sent a printed form of questionnaire. Of the twenty questions asked on this paper, which must be filled out and signed before further information is vouchsafed, nine seem to be pertinent to the point under consideration. These are:

Were your parents born in the United States of America?

Are you a Gentile or a Jew?

Are you of the white race or of a colored race?

Do you believe in the principles of a pure Americanism?

Do you believe in white supremacy?

What is your politics?

What is your religious faith?

Of what religious faith are your parents?

Do you owe any kind of allegiance to any foreign nation, government, institution, sect, ruler or person?

To the inquirer sending in the questionnaire satisfactorily filled out, there become available pamphlets giving details of the organization's present purposes and principles. To quote from one of these pamphlets:

"The purpose of the modern Kuklux Klan is to inculcate the sacred principles and noble ideals of chivalry, the development of character, the protection of the home and the chastity of womanhood, the exemplification of a pure and practical patriotism toward our glorious country, the preservation of American ideals and the maintenance of white supremacy * * Only native-born white American citizens who believe in the tenets of the Christian religion and who owe no allegiance to any foreign government or institution, religous or political, or to any sect, people or persons, are eligible for membership."

Classes That are Barred

Five classes of persons are at once barred by this pronouncement. They are (1) negroes, (2) Japanese and other Orientals, (3) Roman Catholics, (4) Jews, (5) all foreign-born persons.

Without questioning the right of the Kuklux Klan or of any other organization to set up its own qualifications for membership and to exclude any individual or group of individuals, it is of interest to note that the four groups particularly excluded in this instance are, each in degree varying, with local conditions, the storm-centers of present-day racial antagonisms in the United States.

Anti-Semitic propaganda is more open and active in America than at any other time in recent history.

To the mass mind of America the Irish question is chiefly a religious question; the issue at stake the control of Ireland by the Roman Catholic church, and the persistent effort of the American supporters of Sinn Fein to arouse antagonism in this country against England a subtle piece of religious propaganda. Quite regardless of its truth or falsity, there can be no doubt of the wide acceptance of this view by a large proportion of Protestant Americans.

That the Japanese question is a tremendously vital issue west of the Rockies is a familiar fact to every newspaper reader; it is equally true that the anti-Japanese sentiment of the Pacific coast is shared by a large proportion of Americans in other sections who have become convinced that the interests of the nation are seriously menaced by Japanese occupation of California lands.

The Negro Question

New impetus has been given to the negro question, more particularly in the south, but to some extent throughout the country, by conditions arising from the war. The great demand for labor during the war brought about the greatest migration in history of negroes from the south to the north. High wages, north and south, raised the negro for a time to unheard of pinnacles of affluence. Then the sudden slump in business threw back into idleness thousands who had become accustomed to "easy money." Many of these found themselves hundreds of miles from home with no means of returning; large fractions of the whole number had forgotten their old habit of docility in their brief period of financial independence and ventured to assert their rights as citizens in a manner offensive to the dominant white race.

Renewed agitation for the recognition of the negro on the plane of complete equality with the white was one of the inevitable results of the war conditions that put the negro worker on the same economic plane with the white workman; the negro soldier and officer into the same uniform and the same service as the white soldier. The demands of the national association for the advancement of the colored people for the abolition of segregation of the races in the government departments at Washington, the reduction of congressional representation in the southern states in proportion as the negro is disfranchised, the pardon of the imprisoned soldiers of the 24th Infantry held in Leavenworth for the Houston riots, the abolition of "Jim Crow" cars on interstate railroads and the appointment of negro assistant secretaries of labor and agriculture are pointed to by officials of the Kuklux Klan as proof that white supremacy is now acutely and nationally menaced. The N. A. A. C. P., in turn, has included in its published statement of purposes "The defeat, by every legitimate means, of the nefarious Kuklux Klan, both south and north." So the issue here, at least, is squarely joined.

National Expansion Sought

It is on such grounds as those just enumerated that the revived Kuklux Klan bases its expectation of extending beyond the boundaries of the south. It has been in existence, this present-day successor to the old Kuklux, since the latter part of 1915, when it was chartered as a legitimate fraternal organization by the state of Georgia. The originator of the idea of reviving the old institution under the old name, was Colonel William Joseph Simmons, of Atlanta, now professor of southern history in Lanier University. Associated with him in the application for a charter from the state of Georgia were three surviving members of the old Kuklux Klan. By virtue of this fact, the new klan declares itself, in its constitution, to be the only legitimate heir of the original organization, with sole rights to all its signs, symbols, regalias, etc. It is organized on similar lines to the original Kuklux Klan, with similar, though slightly different, titles for its officers. Colonel Simmons is the "Imperial Wizard' or supreme head of the order, the full title of which is "The Invisible Empire, Knights of the Kuklux Klan." The old regalia of white robe and pointed cap covering the face of the wearer is retained by the new organization, which claims to be fully organized throughout the south and to have a considerable number of local nuclei in half or more of the states.

Pretends to Uphold Law

Cooperation with the authorities of the law is set forth as one of the tenets of the revived Kuklux Klan. "Because of certain individuals at various times have committed acts of violence under cover of darkness and shielded by masks and robes somewhat resembling the official regalia of the Kuklux Klan," says one of the organization's official announcements, "they have been classed as members of this organization. The Kuklux Klan is a strictly law abiding organization, and every member is sworn to uphold the law at all times and to assist officers of the law in preserving peace and order whenever occasion may arise, and any member violating this oath would be banished from the organization forever.

"Among the principles for which this organization stands are: Supression of graft by public office holders; preventing the cause of lynching and mob violence; preventing unwarranted strikes by foreign agitators; sensible and patriotic immigration laws; sovereignty of state rights under the constitution; separation of church and state, and freedom of speech and press, a freedom such as does not strike at nor imperil our government or the cherished institutions of our people."

One Instance of Operations

How the Klan operates may best be indicated by quoting from statements publicly made by authority of its national officials. Birmingham, Alabama, recently had "a wave of crime." The Kuklux Klan offered its services to the city officials to help stamp out evil conditions. The offer was accepted and the 700 local members directed their efforts, in secret, against criminals and "undesirables" of both races. They claim that they rendered valuable assistance to the police, and their claim is supported by the fact that the chief of police of Birmingham sent a telegram to the chief of police of Nashville, Tennessee, when he learned that a branch of the organization was to be established there, heartily endorsing the Kuklux Klan. They claim that many such letters and telegrams of endorsement from mayors, sheriffs and chiefs of police of southern cities are on file in the Klan's headquarters.

In Jacksonville, Florida, the method of a public parade at night was adopted. Several hundred members of the Klan, garbed in robes and hoods, rode through the city, scattering printed placards, which read:

> Warning—Undesirables, both white and black, we know you. This loafing, thieving and prowling around must stop. Knights of the Kuklux Klan.

A high official of the Kuklux Klan told the writer of a dramatic though less spectacular demonstration of the organization's methods. He stated that in one city, in which it was well organized, an investigation into underlying conditions making for crime and disorder indicated that the chief trouble lay in the manner in which one of the city's courts was conducted. A special committee, he says, with an expert investigator employed, spent weeks in drawing up what amounted to an indictment of the judge of this court. The document was handed to the judge with a letter, signed by the Kuklux Klan, asking him to read the charges and to realize that his future course would be as carefully scrutinized as his past actions. He stated there was no threat, no demand for his resignation; on the contrary, the belief was expressed that he could and would reform the conditions in his court. "A year later," said the official who told this story, "I was talking with a very eminent jurist who was familiar with conditions in this court. He said that the improvement that had been observed in its conduct had been a matter of the greatest gratification to him, and that he had been unable to account for it until I told him how it was brought about."

The power of the Kuklux Klan today, like that of its prototype of half a century ago, lies in the secrecy and mystery with which it and its operations are surrounded. Its members are known only to each other and may not disclose the fact of their membership to outsiders. Outside the Klan none can know whether its warnings are backed by ten men of thousands in any community. To the assertion that there is no need and no room for such an extra-legal institution to enforce law and order, the officers of the Klan point to the newspaper chronicles of crime and disorder in every part of the country. To the charge that they are a negro-whipping organization, thriving on race prejudice, they reply that no law-abiding person of any race, creed or color has anything to fear from them; they assert that they are the friends of every self-respecting man, black or white, but that they maintain the inherent superiority of the Caucasian stock, and that their order intends to use every legitimate means to retain it in control of America.

CHRISTMAS TREE DECORATOR HIS JOB

(By International News Service)

BEAUMONT, Tex., April 14.—Goldie Sission is free today because he made Chief of Police Johnson laugh. Goldie was booked on a "vag" charge.

"I'm no 'vag.'" he insisted to the chief. "No court'll even convice me. I'm a working man."

"Hasn't worked a day this year,' scoffed the patrolman who had brought him in.

"Well," replied the charge, "I only work in season. I'm a Christma's tree decorator."

He was released.

MOVING SIDEWALKS PROPOSED IN PARIS

(By International News Service)

PARIS, April 15.—To relieve congestion on tthe sidewalks of the Par is boulevards it is proposed to construct a moving sidewalk under the street level and along the side of a new subway about to be built. Emile Desvaux, the engineer who constructed the moving sidewalk at the world's fair in Paris, presented the idea to the municipal council. Desvaux's plan is to have a sidewalk moving at about five miles an hour with railings on which the "pedestrians" might rest while being transported along forty feet underground. The scheme is being given serious attention.

HOMESICKNESS

Bridget was suffering from nostalgia.

"You ought to be contented and not pine for your old home, Bridget," said her mistress. "You are earning good wages, your work is light, everyone is kind to you and you have lots of friends here."

"Yes, mum," sadly replied Bridget, "but it's not the place where I be that makes me homesick, it's the place where I don't be." — Boston Transcript.

The New Way to Cook

National Steam Pressure Cooker and Canner

are not an experiment. Cooking authorities and myriads of America's good housewives enthusiastically endorse them. Cooking by steam "under pressure" brings out all the flavors and juices and makes all food, even toughest meats, tender and delicious, in ⅓ the time, with ¼ the fuel. Positively will not scorch or burn.

Think of the hours of kitchen drudgery it saves, to say nothing of fuel—think of cooking onions or cabbage and having no odor in the house.

We want to show you this wonderful necessity for every home and ask you to come in the first time you are down town.

The Ladies of the Presbyterian Church
Will have a FOOD SALE in our store tomorrow. Part of the good things to eat will be cooked by Mrs. Gable in a National Steam Pressure Cooker and Canner.

Annual State P. E. O. Now in Session at Burbank

and interpret with true dramatic fire. She prefaced her talk with a little friendly gossip with the audience in which she told some appreciated stories, her program including three Tagore numbers—"The Temple of Gold" expressing contempt for empty lip service, "Union," and an "Episode from the Prose Poems." She also read "How the White Rose Became Pink," "How the Morning Glory Learned to Climb," "The Daughter," by Theodora Garrison, and last as a dramatic climax, Ruth Comfort Mitchell's "Steerage."

Glendalians were very proud to find upon the program their own Mme. Catherine Shank, who was accompanied by Mrs. Ella B. Warriner, and who sang: "Air" (Handel, "Rain" (Pearl G. Curran) and "God Smiled Upon the Desert" (Cadman), for an encore giving "Little Pickaninny Kid."

Still another Glendale artist on this fine program was Serafin Pla, the baritone, accompanied upon the piano by Miss Helene Morgan, also of this city. His numbers were "Evening Star" (Wagner) and "Calm as the Night" (Bohm). He was enthusiastically recalled and when he selected for his encore "La Paloma," the applause broke out afresh.

The last part of the program included charmingly interpreted folk songs of France, England and America, among others the "Raggle, Taggle Gypsy, O," and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot." These were given by Grace Wood Jess, accompanied by Charles T. Ferry, composer-pianist.

The last and most spectacular number was provided by the wonderful boy dancer Ko-Vert, who gave his astonishing peacock dances in which he impersonated the bird in a marvellous make-up and costume of great magnificence said to have cost $10,000 and to include a thousand peacock feathers. It was a thrilling exhibition, but as different as possible from the ordinary conception of a dance.

Thus ended the second evening of the P. E. O. convention. The night before Mrs. Helen Townsend of Albia, Iowa, supreme president of the order was the speaker.

At the morning program Thursday, Mrs. Frank Arnold of this city contributed vocal numbers, and the afternoon before Miss Isabel Isgrig of this city sang.

It is said to be the largest state convention P. E. O.'s have ever held in California, tthe delegates numbering not less than 400 and it has furnished considerable excitement for Burbank.

Hostess chapters were U. of Burbank and B. A. and A. H. of Glendale.

EQUINE PARADOX AT THE GLENDALE

"Old Buckskin" (Richard E. Homer) will appear on the stage in person tonight with "Headlight," the world's wonder horse.
